GARIE SLSC

Challenges of becoming one of the first female life savers

I was most likely too naïve to realize the implications of what we were doing at the time, I did my bronze with a group of friends, all female, in 83-84 season. Poor Frank Ridley from North Cronulla, the man was a saint to put up with us, I still don't know how he managed to get us to stop the shenanigans for a minute or two to listen to him, anyway, he did! He also trained us on the belt and reel, and managed to get us through the course. If you're doing your bronze today be thankful that it is no longer part of the curriculum.

Sure, in the early years there were a few old stalwarts who were horrified that females would be walking through their hallowed halls as full members, and on occasions yes, could be very vocal about their dislike of the situation, but time stops for no one, and the true champions of females coming up through the movement were also old stalwarts, who happened to be forward thinking and strongly supported the change, as they saw it for what it was, forward movement.

I moved to Garie in the 90's, I felt little resistance because I was a female. At a small club, no one really cared if you wore a skirt, as long as you could roll your sleeves up and work as part of a team. I have held the positions of Patrol Captain, Treasurer, Carnival organiser, Deputy President, and at the moment am Director of Administration. Garie is a great little club, and I'm really very proud of the calibre of the women in our club, and despite some male preconceptions, we agree on practically everything. (even sneaking new furniture in) I see their involvement into the future as fundamental to our sustainability.

Highlights

Winning SLS Sydney Club of the year, and watching our club captain Jessika Hay win SLS Sydney Lifesaver of the year. I have watched Jess come up through nippers, yet again a young female making her mark.

As a carnival organiser, every novice sweeps event at the Garie Dash, always the best part of the day, and I'm sure a lot of people who were present would agree. If I remember correctly one year we stood on the beach and watched Rebecca Hamilton have her very first go at the sweep oar in a competition, hilarious! She's obviously improved out of stratosphere since that day and has gone on to be a tough competitor, champion and ambassador for females in the sport. I just wish we had filmed it for her.

How can Lifesaving improve to include women?

I think that we are pretty much there now, there is a wide chasm between lifesaving 40 years ago and now, and if anything, my advice to younger females in the movement would be that the glass ceiling has been smashed and the sky is now the limit, so go for it girls! If you want to change policy, you have to be where policies are made, and you can be.
