The Junior Development Committee Executive Team, with support from past JLOTY, have now reviewed this season's applications, to determine the 12 finalists for SLS Sydney Junior Lifesaver of the Year 2020-21.

As per last season this has been a very difficult process assessing who should become a finalist due to the very high calibre of the applications.

Those who have nominated should be congratulated, as they all represented themselves and their clubs with passion and pride.

We are very fortunate to have such high quality young Surf Lifesavers in our organisation, and we would ask the Clubs to pass on our thanks to all those who have nominated.

To those who have nominated, but not made the final 12, please continue your work in SLS and look for those opportunities in the future where you can make a difference, and your leadership qualities can be utilised.

Each of the Selection panel were given directions as to how to assess the application forms based on five specific areas covering: Leadership - Communication - Future options - Experience and Vision.

Within this process there were a variety of responses, and after extensive and careful deliberation a defined twelve finalists were selected.
