Surf Life Saving Sydney is seeking expressions of interest from club/operational areas for the hosting of the SMPC courses currently being scheduled for the first half of 2024.

The draft program is for four (4) courses to be conducted between February 2024 and May 2024 – refer schedule below.

The intention is to offer the theory and practical training component in the candidates' local environment. Capacity constraints would limit the ability of SLS Sydney to conduct courses in every club, so club's are encouraged to submit their EOI's with a view to including members from adjacent clubs or operational area. SLS Sydney will also be looking to spread the allocation of courses across the branch.

Clubs/operational areas willing to host the course would need to be able to offer:

- a suitable space for training up to 25 candidates for the theory component (including AV equipment);
- parking near the club for SMPC facilitators on the practical day for the vehicle carrying training equipment; and
- four non-participant members who can assist during the practical day as actors (members of the public) and assist with radio comms.

How to Complete the EOI

Please complete this jotform link if your Club is interesting in hosting one of these 4 SMPC courses on offer <https://form.jotform.com/233509317268056>

Expressions of interest will close on Wednesday 10 January 2024 COB.

Note: Due to timeframe constraints, the venue for the February course may be determined prior to closing date if a suitable respondent is identified.

A separate circular will be issued early January 2024 seeking EOI's from Clubs for candidates for these courses.
